

Welcome! We invite you to use our website WWW.SUFLER.PRO and the app SUFLER.PRO, hereinafter referred to as the Service. Please note that our offer is only valid if you read and agree to these Terms of service. This document describes in detail your and our rights in relation to the provision of the Service (in terms defined below), so you should read it carefully.

The terms set forth in this document and other terms that may be provided by us and accepted by you at any time in relation to individual Services (collectively, the "terms of service" or "Terms"). If you do not agree to these Terms of service, you will lose your right to access and use the Service. By registering in our Service or using it in any other way, you confirm your agreement with the terms of service and agree to comply with this agreement, which is an integral condition of use.

In addition, by using the Service, you acknowledge and accept all provisions of the privacy Policy, including, but not limited to, the use and processing of text, images and other data that you choose to enter, upload or store on the service (collectively, the "Content"), as well as your personal information in accordance with this privacy Policy.

Are the terms of services subject to change?

These terms may change as new features, technologies, or legal requirements become available, so please return to them from time to time. If these Terms change, you have the right to either accept the updated terms or stop using the Service. Your use of our Service after any update becomes effective will be considered as confirmation of your acceptance of the new Terms of service and your agreement to comply with them. No changes or additions to these Terms of service, other than those made in accordance with this paragraph, are effective unless they are made in the form of a written agreement with clear changes signed by you and us. For the avoidance of doubt, an email or any other communication is not considered a valid written agreement for this purpose.

What do I need to do to start using the Service ?

First, you need to create an account in the Service . To create an account, enter your email address and password. (Some outdated accounts require a username.) We refer to this information as your "subscriber Credentials". We do not recommend using the same sequence of characters as the username and password, or setting passwords that are easy to find. This combination of username and password should not be used in any other services. You must ensure the accuracy, completeness, and confidentiality of your subscriber Credentials and are fully responsible for all actions performed using your account, including the actions of all persons to whom you provide your subscriber Credentials. We will not be liable for damages or losses resulting from you providing us with inaccurate information or failing to ensure the security of your subscriber Credentials. If you become aware of any unauthorized use of your subscriber Credentials or suspect that someone may access your confidential Content without your permission, you should immediately change your password and report such suspicions to our technical support team.

You can use the Service via a browser or install our client offers on your computers, tablets and phones. You will have to purchase such devices and pay for Internet access and data transfer yourself. The service is also not responsible for the availability of an Internet connection and the availability of other communication services required to access the Service.

Can I share my account with other people?

Accounts in the Service cannot be shared. If you share your subscriber Credentials with someone, the person who has access to such data may gain control of the account and we will not be able to determine who is the true owner of the Account. We will not be liable to you (or the person to whom you provide your subscriber Credentials) in any way in connection with your actions or that person's actions under such circumstances. Since you can use a free account in the Service and we provide you with a number of ways to share the contents of your account with other people, we strongly recommend that you do not share your information with anyone unless it is related to inheritance planning, as described below.

What rights will I have in relation to the Service after creating an account in the Service ?

After you create an account and accept these Terms, we grant you a limited, non-exclusive license to use the Service in accordance with these Terms, provided that applicable law does not prohibit you from using the Service until you close your account on your own initiative or until you close it in accordance with these Terms. In addition, it hereby grants you a personal, worldwide, royalty-free, non-assignable, non-exclusive license to use the Service Software , solely to enable you to use the Software and Service to the extent permitted by the terms of any applicable Software license that is provided with it and these Terms of service, until your rights are terminated in accordance with such license and / or these Terms of service. You do not receive any other rights, including property rights, in relation to the Service.

The Service's data protection rules state that my data belongs only to me. What does this mean?

You retain the copyright and other rights that you hold in relation to the Content that you submit, publish, or display on the Service. However, you grant the Service a limited license described below so that we can access and use your data through the Service. We agree and confirm that, in accordance with these terms of service, we do not receive from you any rights of ownership, use, or disposition in relation to your Content, except for a limited license and other rights that are expressly assigned by these Terms and applicable law.

What kind of license do I need to grant to the Service ?

To ensure the operation of the Service, we need to obtain certain rights from you under a license for Content that is subject to intellectual property rights, so that technical actions that we perform to ensure the operation of the Service are not considered as legal violations. For example, copyright laws may prevent us from processing, storing, reproducing, backing up, and distributing certain Content if you do not grant us the appropriate rights. Accordingly, by using the Service and uploading Content, you grant the Service a license to reproduce, perform, and distribute your Content, as well as to modify (for technical purposes, such as so that it can be viewed on both computers and other devices) and reproduce such Content to ensure the operation of the Service. You also agree that the Service has the right, in its sole discretion, to reject any content and refuse to post, store, display, publish or transmit It. You agree that such rights and licenses are gratuitous, transferable, sublicensed, irrevocable, valid in any country (as long as your Content is stored in our Service) and include the right of the Service to grant access to such Content to persons with whom the Service has entered into contracts in connection with the provision of the Service, as well as to transfer such rights and licenses to such persons solely for the purpose of providing such services and otherwise provide access to your Content to third parties, if the Service deems it necessary to fulfill its obligations.

Since we rely on your rights to download and distribute Content, you represent and warrant to the Service that (1) you have unlimited legal rights and authority to add your Content to the Service , grant access to any other user, publish or otherwise distribute Content as part of your use of the Service, and grant the rights granted to you by the Service in accordance with these Terms and (2) your Content complies with our user guide and these Terms.

Are there any rules of behavior in the Service ?

Yes. When using the Service, you must comply with these Terms and the Privacy Policy. By using the Service, you take responsibility for your actions and for any actions performed under your registration data. This means that you are solely responsible for all Content created, transmitted, stored, or published in your account, as the person who created or added such Content to the Service. In particular, you agree not to modify, create derivative works, decompile, or otherwise attempt to extract the source code of any of the Service's Software, unless such right is expressly provided for in the terms of any open license, if you have the Express written permission of the Service .

THE RIGHT TO CHANGE THE SERVICE.

We reserve the right, at our sole discretion, to introduce new elements in the Service and /or in addition to the Service, including changes that may affect the current mode of operation of the Service or the software of the Service . We expect that all such changes will improve the overall quality of the Service, which you may not agree with. We also reserve the right at any time, at our sole discretion, to change the scope and type of data storage facilities provided, the ability to send or receive email messages, the nature and size of any index or library information, the nature and ability of users to access and distribute Content and other data, and to impose other restrictions. For example, users of the free version of the Service will not have access to all the benefits provided by a paid subscription.

If there is a fee associated with a part of the Service , you agree to pay that fee by having access to these benefits or using them. The price shown for paid subscriptions may be denominated in the local currency by the Apple or Google app store, or any other applicable app store through which you downloaded the apps (the "App Store") on your device. Fees are charged by the App Store on your device. You should consult the relevant App Store to determine whether the price charged includes all applicable taxes and currency exchange calculations. You are solely responsible for paying such taxes or other charges. The service relies on the App Store to collect subscription fees and report the status of subscription accounts. Your access to the apps may be suspended or canceled if you do not make the payment on time and/or in full. If you want to buy an extended subscription, you do so using the built-in subscriptions from the App Store on your device. You will be notified of the payment for the extended Service subscription before making the payment and invoicing. You must make all payments through the appropriate App Store.

Subscriptions are managed directly by the App Store. The service does not have the ability to manage any aspect of your subscription on your behalf. Subscription is valid for at least thirty (30) days. Payment will be charged to your account in the App Store upon confirmation of purchase.

You should be aware that deleting our apps may not result in the termination of your accounts or auto-renewing subscriptions.

You also acknowledge that some Service activities may prevent you to access their Content and Services at certain times or using specific tools or block this feature for some time or permanently, and agree that the Service is not responsible for the results of such actions, including but not limited to removal of any Content or your inability to access it. You agree that the Service is not responsible to you or any third parties for any modification, suspension or termination of any part of the Service. However, if you are the owner of a paid subscription (referred to as "Paid Service») if you believe that such changes or interruptions to the Paid Service have an adverse effect on you, you can contact our technical support team, explain what the adverse effect is, and, if you wish, cancel your subscription to the Paid Service. After receiving such a request, we will, at our sole discretion or in accordance with the amended legislation, make every effort to eliminate the adverse effects caused by the change.
